The workshops are for those interested in participating in community festivals and events, leading up to and including Birds on Parade, which opens the International Ornithological Congress and First Annual Vancouver International Bird Festival on Monday, August 20, 2018.

The workshop series will focus on proper stilt walking techniques, progressing into movement patterns and improvisation. Participants will learn about local birds and explore their movement qualities on stilts. Inspired by bird formations, group choreography will be developed and applied to the parade format.

All workshops are free. Register early.
